EDMONTON, Alta—Alberta Environment released recently a new version of the Record of Site Condition form. The new version, released on April 6, 2009, is required for any new information being submitted to Alberta Environment and for any reports submitted between May 1, 2008 and April 6, 2009 without a Record of Site Condition form. As of May 1, 2008, a Record of Site Condition form must accompany every Phase 2 environmental site assessment, remediation report and risk management plan submitted to Alberta Environment. It includes reports conducted on approved facilities, upstream oil and gas sites, petroleum storage tank sites, and other commercial and industrial facilities. The new version of the form is available at <http://environment.alberta.ca/2560.html>.
